Successful diversified farming is practiced on the J. H. Alexander ranch south of McFarland, Kern county. This ranch of sixty-five acres was purchased five years ago by Alexander, who had traveled a great deal in this country and others and who decided that McFarland soil would be ideal for raising almost anything. This raw land has been developed by hard work and careful attention into a fine ranch. A good well, 210 feet deep, with a twenty-horsepower electric pump, furnishes plenty of water for irrigation. While Alexander has raised fruits, melons, grapes, corn and alfalfa on his place, he has decided that cotton will be the main crop. He believes that it gives the best returns for labor and water invested.

OPERETTA MAY 14TH

Would you Like to See a Fairy?

The Campbell Union High School is to present on May 14th, an operetta entitled "The Wishing Well."

The name of the title comes from the belief of the Donnell family that their well contained fairies who might be persuaded to grant wishes. And are the fairies obliging? You may find out by visiting the auditorium of the Campbell Union Grammar School Friday evening, May 14.

But how does one persuade the fairies to grant wishes? Well, in the first place, don't call them "fairies," but speak of them nicely as "the good little people," no matter how you feel about them, for in that way you may propitiate them and dissuade them from any evil purpose they may have. For fairies are unmoral creatures without consciences who delight in doing mischief. If you are an untidy housekeeper they'll take delight in souring your milk, while if you don't speak them fair, and leave a bowl of milk on the doorstep for them, and throw primroses before the door to make them a golden path, they may steal your bride or leave a changeling in your baby's cradle.

Above all things, don't sit in a fairy ring, or take bite or sop with the fairies, for then they'll surely have you in their power.

So when you come to the auditorium to have a look at these little creatures, remember these instructions. As a special precaution, you might carry a cross, for the fairies are afraid of the cross and cannot then harm you.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM BY MASONS DRAWS FULL HOUSE AT CAMPBELL

An audience that filled the auditorium enjoyed the Education week program Monday evening. This annual program is sponsored by the Masonic order and the committeemen in charge of the arrangements were Messrs. I. R. Abbott, D. H. Cramer and L. S. Miller.

Several selections by an augmented orchestra of forty pieces from the grammar schools of Campbell, Santa Clara, Moreland, and San Martin under the direction of Edward Towner were given as an opening number.

Rev W. E. Eckles, Chaplain of the Campbell lodge gave the invocation and L. T. Lenox Master in a few words introduced Judge O'Connor as the speaker of the evening. He stated that there was nothing more vital, more real or more necessary to the welfare of this nation than public schools. The pioneers, who started this country and public schools tho't of and planned for the coming generations. They worked for the good of others; so must we in our attempt to do away with illiteracy in this great county of ours. We must think of this great educational system in national terms, not in town, county or state alone. Advantages for education must be more equalized. The inequality was cited in one state where in one district the annual expense to educate a pupil is $34 while in another locality it costs $1170. Laws should be made to equalize the advantages.

He stated that but 1½% of taxes went for the schools and building future citizens which is far from extravagance as claimed by many. Extra subjects, beside the "three r's" tend to broaden the usefullness of pupils.

One of the greatest needs in the school curriculum is a subject teaching the boy and girl to work and do with his o[illegible] hands.

He gave several pointed questions to be answered concerning one's vocation or life work. They are:

Is it honorable and respectable?
Is is healthful and safe?
Does it afford opportunity for lively hood and advancement?
Does he like it and can he get the best out of it?
Has he character and qualifications to succeed?

Mr. R. A. Hansen of Livermore sang two entertaining tenor solos, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Hampson at the piano. Mrs. Hampson also played two pretty piano solos.

GRANGE TO HOLD BOX LUNCH PIGNIC

Several new members were voted into the grange Tuesday evening.

The grange charter was appropriatly draped for our departed brother Benj. Dalvit, with the usual service.

Methods of raising hall funds were discussed and it was voted to hold a "box lunch" the first meeting in May, the 11th. For this the ladies will prepare the lunch boxes and the men pay for them according to the weight of the lady whose box he draws, 1 cent per pound, I hope I draw a light one, (I mean the lady, not the box.)

Mr. George Anderson discussed the proposed reapportionment of the state for legislative purposes. S. N. Hedegard gave quite a lengthy talk on cooperation. Stanley Smith and others reported prospects of rather short crops of prunes and apricots, although conditions are spotted, some places better than others. Cherries were reported a heavy crop in Sacramento valley, light in this valley. H. G. Keesling said an expert rose culturist would address a meeting in San Jose on May 12, at the Chamber of Commerce, the hours to be announced later.

Several spoke of the benefit they had received from the plant exchange which is an annual affair. It was announced that the Flower Lovers Club would hold a sale of plants every two weeks hereafter in San Jose we presume.

The matter of East Palo Alto grange, Mr. W. S. Wardlaw, was present and spoke a few words of encouragement to grangers.

The attendance contest that has been on for the past few months was decided in favor of the golds, and the reds will give a banquet in the near future.

One of the biggest deals made in Campbell recently was consumated last week when L. M. Beall purchased the Campbell Bank corner and the adjoining property on South Central Avenue. The building is being remodeled for a up-to-the-minute Ford Sales Agency, garage and repair department.

WORLD COURT RESERVATIONS

Secretary of State Kellogg reflects the U. S. Government's attitude toward the World Court reservations by stating to the foreign powers that there is no need of a delegation to clarify them at the proposed League conference on September 1. This "take 'em or leave 'em" method is a rather bold step. The reservations are clear enough in ordinary language as we understand it, but may not be so clear under modified ideas of the representatives of Europe. International agreements, like laws, are not always free from misconstruction until they have been tested and adjudicated by the highest tribunals. There is a possibility that the reservations will be rejected by America's failure to send the salesman with the sample." Or, they may be accepted with the tacit understanding that time and experience will test their consistency with World Court procedure and principles. There are 48 signatory nations to satisfy. They may come back with "reservations to the reservations." At any rate, their action will determine the genuineness of the much-heralded desire of the United States to enter more fully into international attempts at peace for the world.

"THE FOXES HAVE HOLES"

"The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests." But man pushes forward to something more, and is dependent on his own resources for whatever comforts he provides himself. The development of the arts and sciences up to this period of the world's history attests his inventive genius and industrial worth.

The difference between man and the brute is the former's creative spirit over the latter's simple provision for comfort alone. No altruistic motive guides the beast to add one jot or tittle to the well being of the animal kingdom outside his own family circle. Instead, he preys upon and devours what Nature has spread in his jungle path. Is it not the achievements of men outside the simple realm of food, clothing and shelter that distinguish them from the lower order?

Under the most ordinary circumstances men will have the actual necessities of existence. These things must and will come even under the scheme and barbarism. We all owe to the world a little more effort toward higher service to others. Providence expects from us at least some small contribution to the development of the community in which we live and toward the country and the nest of the bird are all that are expected of those creatures. With these their destiny has run its course. But man, endowed with intelligence and reason, and fortified with personality, has not fulfiilled his highest possibilities until and unless he— in cooperation with his fellow-men and fellow-citizens, has helped to bring order out of chaos in what we choose to call the onward march of civilization.

Many an apparent slap in the face is a slap on the back in disguise.

She had been a resident of Campbell for forty-two years, and was the last living Charter member of the Methodist Church here. She had been one of its earnest members and faithful workers, until advancing years and failing health prevented.

Of a remarkable vitality and independence, she rallied from several severe illnesses and maintained her own home until within a few months of her death, her husband having died a number of years ago.

There are living two daughters, Mrs. Charles West of Palo Alto and Mrs. J. C. Ainsley of Campbell a son, Warren S. Shelly also of Campbell and two sisters, Mrs. Rebekah Hunter and Mrs. Emma Ports, both of Ohio, besides ten grand children and three great-grand children. The funeral services held Wednesday afternoon from the San Jose Undertaking parlors with the Rev. F. C. Farr and Rev. W. H. Lloyd officating were attended by a large number of sympathetic friends and the profusion of beautiful flowers bore silent tribute to the life lived in this community.

The pall beaerrs were: B. O. Curry, G. S. Robson, J. W. Lancaster, W. M. Skiff, E. A. Priestly and R. L. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hansen, Mrs. J. H. Hampson and Mrs. Mays of Livermore were guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Abbott, Monday, motoring over to attend the Education week program.

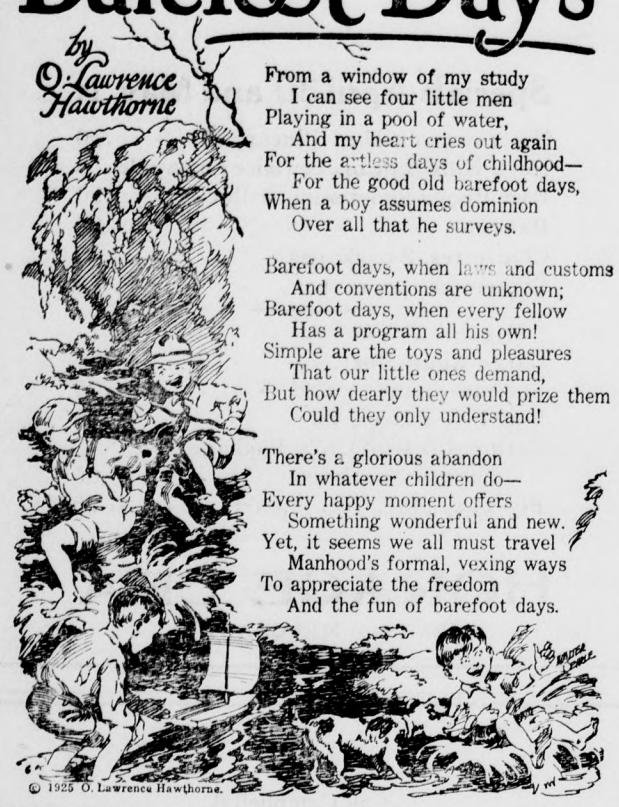
Barefoot Days

by O. Lawrence Hawthorne



From a window of my study
I can see four little men
Playing in a pool of water,
And my heart cries out again
For the artless days of childhood—
For the good old barefoot days,
When a boy assumes dominion
Over all that he surveys.

Barefoot days, when laws and customs
And conventions are unknown;
Barefoot days, when every fellow
Has a program all his own!
Simple are the toys and pleasures
That our little ones demand,
But how dearly they would prize them
Could they only understand!

There's a glorious abandon
In whatever children do—
Every happy moment offers
Something wonderful and new.
Yet, it seems we all must travel
Manhood's formal, vexing ways
To appreciate the freedom
And the fun of barefoot days.

"King Arthur," the dramatic cantate by John More Smieton will be rendered on the evening of May 5, at the Teachers college auditorium. Viola C. Hancock

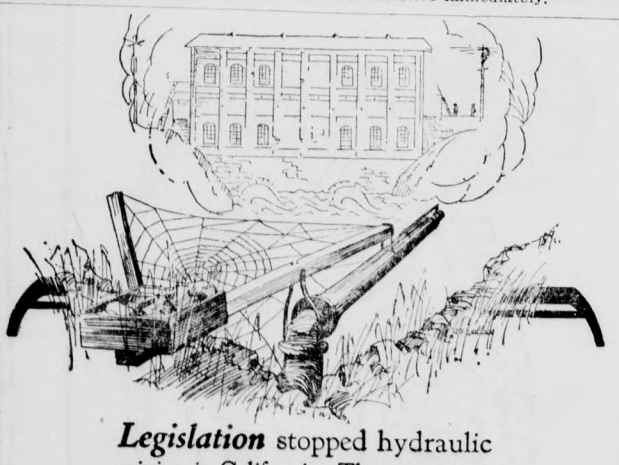
The many friends of Mrs. Viola C. Hancock were surprised and grieved to learn of her death which occurred in San Jose, last Sunday.

Mrs. Hancock was a resident of Campbell for a number of years and was actively connected with the Congregational Church. She was a native of Wisconsin and had almost reached the allotted three score years and ten. She is survived by her husband, Enoch Hancock, and two sons, J. Fraser, of San Jose and Charles E. of San Francisco.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon and the body laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery.

Campbell friends extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved ones.

The fight of the stockmen of Siskiyou county against the importation of tubercular cows ended victoriously when the board of supervisors, by a vote of four to one, adopted a drastic ordinance giving Dr. C. E. Carter, county veterinarian, authority to examine all such cattle and bar out those having any tubercular taint. A maximum penalty of 500 or six months in the county jail is provided for violation of the ordinance. It will become effective immediately.



Legislation stopped hydraulic mining in California. Thus, construction work done by pioneers in their industry became of no immediate value. The inventive minds of Westerners, however, conceived the idea of harnessing the waters used by the miners for the generation of electrical energy.

From this—thru business initiative and enterprise—there has been developed for you in California an industry, generating and distributing electric energy.

California Power Companies, in their management, operation and ability to serve the many instead of the few, and at a price within the reach of all, have established for this State a position pre-eminent.

Bowling Greens Come Back Into Prominence

When New York was still New Amsterdam the Dutch there played bowls on a bowling green, still known by that name as part of Battery park. The game that raged in England and other countries centuries ago—Ohio and six other states have Bowling Greens named after it—has been experiencing a revival. By way of Canada or Florida it has arrived in Buffalo, Boston, Cincinnati and other cities. President McGilvrey has now announced an intention to introduce it to the young ladies attending the state normal college at Kent, Ohio.

Played with wooden balls weighing about three pounds and not exactly spherical, one ball for each player, on level lawns of moderate extent, men and women participating without necessarily changing from street clothes, the game is said to have certain practical advantages over other sports and to provide moderate exercise along with a great deal of sociability, amusement and opportunity for skill. Indeed, we understand a determined man can become wrapped up in it almost as completely as in golf.—Cleveland News.

Trees and "Red Tape" Mixed Up in France

In France it is necessary to obtain government permission to cut down one's own trees. This is due to the important part played by scientific forestry in the national life and to a desire to prevent destruction of national wealth on even the smallest scale. Unless the tree be quite dead it is probable that the owner's request will be refused. Nor may he even have it clipped except by a person properly qualified, lest the tree be injured.

Trees that are municipal property or such as line the highways of France also may not be cut down, even when dead, without the permission of the local district council. The Paris municipal council has, however, just made a move to abolish this permit-seeking necessity as applied to the metropolis.

The proposal is not looked upon with universal favor. Suspicious Parisians contend that the council is trying to shirk some of its responsibility. Then, too, it is pointed out that the consequences, were all districts of France to adopt so loose an attitude toward the cutting down of trees, might be serious.

Germans Back to the Land

Business depression is causing a reflux of German people to the land. The country roads around the big cities are crowded with city people out of employment and seeking work. When told in the country that there is none they beg and threaten. The country folk who first thought to get rid of the job hunters by the process of calling the dog have learned that many of the hungry seekers for work carry leaded clubs and even firearms. The country police hardly know what to do with the problem. German excess population is returning to the land, but the land does not appear to want them.

Unwilling to Learn Welsh

John Williams, presiding at the Welsh Caerpilly school managers' meeting recently, referred to an examiner's report, which stated that the teaching of Welsh in Glamorgan, Wales, was a complete failure, and that the matter ought to be given serious consideration, says the Cardiff Times. He (the chairman) agreed with the report and said it was sad to reflect upon it. In his opinion they would never have Welsh properly taught until they had expert Welsh teachers.

Krupp Works Now Mint

The Greek government has placed its order for the minting of new small coins with the Krupp works of Essen, the converted ammunition plant, says the governments' commerce reports. Coins are to be minted to the value of 65,000,000 drachmas, the alloy to consist of 70 per cent copper, 20 per cent nickel and 10 per cent aluminum.

Saddle Valued at $5,000

G. S. Garcia, of Elko, Nev., owns a saddle that he values at not less than $5,000. Garcia is an expert saddle maker, and he made this one for his own use. The big value in the saddle outside of the workmanship, is the $4,000 worth of gold and silver worked into it.

Golden State
News of Interest to All

A San Franciscan recently claimed the spaghetti-eating championship of the west and every town has its pie-eating competition on festival occasions, but Isleton, Sacramento county, is offering something new in the way of food consumption tests. The city fathers have offered a prize for the person who can eat the most asparagus, the favorite food and principal product of that district. Asparagus eaters have been invited to assemble for the championship bout at the second annual California Asparagus Festival, May 15 and 16.

Proving that they certainly believe in planning ahead, Sacramento Chamber of Commerce leaders announced that they hope to hold a world's fair here in 1949, the hundredth anniversary of the discovery of gold in California. This will be led up to, they indicated, by a repetition of the city's famous "Days of '49" celebration every decade. The next celebration will be held in 1929 and followed by another in 1939 and the world's fair ten years later, they said.

A one-mile span of cable between two great towers will be set up this summer by the Southern California Edison company, when it builds its new transmission line from Big Creek, Fresno county, to Los Angeles. The mile span, the longest in the world, it is declared, will be between towers perched atop hills east of Lindsay, Tulare county, allowing a sag in the 200,000-volt cables of several hundred feet between the slopes of the hills.

Fred E. Wadsworth, president of the old Siskiyou County Bank of Yreka, C. H. Morrison of Yreka and Martin C. Beem, president of the Scott Valley Bank at Fort Jones, filed an application with the United States treasury department on April 1st, for permission to start the First National Bank of Dunsmuir. It was stated in the application that the capital stock would be $50,000, with a surplus fund of $12,500 to start with.

Two interesting relics of California's early history are the cherished possessions of Joe McGonagle of Colma, San Mateo county. One is a fruit press made by James Marshall, the discoverer of gold, who was a wheelwright by trade. The other is a telegram sent by the press of St. Louis to the press of San Francisco on the occasion of the completion of the overland telegraph line.

The migratory labor problem is gradually settling itself because the laborers are making Kern county their permanent home, instead of following the crops as formerly and recent estimates that the population of the county is approximately 100,000 were not too high, County Superintendent of Schools L. E. Chenoweth declares.

The report of the State Fish Exchange indicates that nearly 2000 licenses will be issued to brokers and dealers in fish throughout California in 1926. Renewed activity in the regulation of the fish industry under the Fish Exchange Act has resulted in a considerable increase in the business of the exchange since Secretary B. B. Florence took office in November, 1925.

Mrs. Adelaide Janssen, of Sebastopol, known among the members of the Sebastopol Rebekah Lodge as "Grandma" Janssen, was given a Past Noble Grand pin in honor of her seventy-ninth birthday by the lodge. Mrs. Janssen is one of the oldest members of the Sebastopol lodge and one of the most active.

The contract for the new State Bank of Dunsmuir building was signed recently. The contractor agrees to have the building completed by October 1st, starting work on the foundation May 1st. The building will cost about $40,000 and will be a modern banking house.

Construction contracts, calling for the outlay of approximately 800,000 have been called for by the Nevada Irrigation district at Grass valley, Nevada county, on specifications prepared by the State engineering department and approved by the board of directors.

a mass meeting in the high school building at Riverdale, Fresno county, recently, for the purpose of voicing their views on the selection of a site for the proposed new grammar school building. The call for the meeting was at the instance of the school board.

State Real Estate Commissioner J. R. Gabbert, recently appointed G. J. Allison of Stockon as a special deputy to check up on real estate brokers. Allison is one of four deputies who will make inspections to see if real estate brokers are observing the state law.

F. W. Whitehead, field veterinarian of the State Division of Animal Industry, is conducting a tuberculin test of dairy herds on the ranches near Cazadero, Sonoma county.

An unjust burden is imposed on the building industry by the series of fees levied by the city of Stockton, is the declaration of the Builders' Exchange of Stockton, Inc., which will make an effort to lighten the load. Edward Grogan, chairman, points out the various taxes as follows: Every contractor, builder and supply man pays a municipal tax; when a building is to be erected there is a permit fee; the general contractor is taxed and all sub-contractors are taxed; there is an inspection fee; plumbing inspection fee and an electrical inspection fee.
